

Note from the publisher

In the goal of enhancing our services to the astrophysical community, we are pleased to inform you that several changes have been implemented and will be active until the end of 2008:

For letters

- the letters section is in full Open Access;
- figures (for which electronic files are provided in color) are published in color free of charge in the paper version.

For regular papers

- articles published in section 14 “Online catalogs and data” are in full Open Access (note that articles in section 13 “Astronomical instrumentation” have already been in full Open Access since the first 2007 issue);
- a 50% discount is applied to the prices of the color figures.

We are confident that these changes will improve the visibility and diffusion of your articles and hope that you will enjoy these new services.
